WELCOME NOTES

Greetings:

It is our great pleasure to welcome you to Athens and to the Seventh Annual Humanity in Action International Conference. We are most grateful to Mayor Georgios Kaminis who has placed this conference under the auspices of the City of Athens. We are delighted to convene this important conference at Technopolis, a landmark of the City of Athens.

Humanity in Action is also grateful for the generosity of The William H. Donner Foundation, the Germeshausen Foundation, Microsoft, the Bodossaki Foundation and other private philanthropists who have provided support. Finally, we would like to give special thanks to our Greek Advisory Board whose members have helped steer our outreach efforts in Greece. Spearheaded by Humanity in Action France, the inclusion of Greek Fellows in our national programs as well as study trips since 2014 was made possible through a generous grant of the Stavros Niarchos Foundation.

The theme of the Seventh Annual Humanity in Action International Conference is “Europe at the Crossroads: Perspectives from Athens.” This conference is taking place during a time of extraordinary challenge to the international order. The conference enables the Humanity in Action community to engage in the issues of diversity, migration, diplomacy and national cohesiveness within the Greek and European contexts. Many countries in Europe are struggling with the consequences of economic crises, the imposition of austerity measures, the influx of migrants and refugees and the growth of political extremism and nationalist parties. As these pressures are deeply felt in Greece, we will explore the unique intersection of political, economic and migration crises in Greece over the next few days.

The educational ambitions and scope of the conference epitomize Humanity in Action’s unique and innovative model. The conference sessions are international, intergenerational, interdisciplinary and driven by the importance of connecting the past and present. During the conference we will enhance our collective knowledge through a variety of forums: plenary sessions with stimulating keynote speakers, breakout sessions for discussions on more specific issues and workshops to communicate and implement skills and ideas. We will also feature a number of Senior Fellow Action Projects to showcase the variety of fine work inspired by our programs. These selections, chosen from a growing body of projects, represent Humanity in Action’s commitment to encouraging action within and beyond our network through vigilance, historical knowledge, and a willingness to act. Furthermore, site visits to a variety of community organizations and city tours will give conference participants a direct insight into the domestic challenges facing vulnerable social and minority groups in Athens.

This Athens conference – our Seventh Annual International Conference – is the culmination of our fellowship programs in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Denmark, Germany, the Netherlands, Poland and the United States for nearly 140 university students, recent graduates and graduate students who are emerging leaders in human rights. We are also pleased to be joined by Senior Fellows from the past 19 years of programs, board members, staff, donors and friends of the organization. This event highlights the work of each of Humanity in Action’s national offices and the wide-ranging and ambitious programs and initiatives that they develop and implement throughout the year. We are most grateful to all of those who work for and with Humanity in Action. We are especially thankful to the conference organizing team – Antje Scheidler, Anthony Chase, Yulia Shalomov, Konstantinos Koukos and Adeola Aderemi.

Our annual conferences provide a rich milieu for all members of the Humanity in Action community to convene, develop ideas and forge partnerships and friendships. We look forward to another inspiring conference, especially in a location as important as Athens. Thank you very much for joining us on this special occasion.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

DIMITRIS CHRISTOPOULOS

Dimitris Christopoulos is an Associate Professor of State and Legal Theory at the Department of Political Science and History of the Panteion University of Athens, where he has taught since 2000. His courses include “Introduction to the European Legal and State Theory,” “Minorities in Europe,” “Citizenship and Migration” and “Art, Freedom and Censorship.” Since 2013, Prof. Christopoulos has served as Vice President of the International Federation for Human Rights, previously having chaired the board of the Hellenic League for Human Rights from 2003 until 2011. Prof. Christopoulos has taught as a visiting professor and has provided lectures in different universities in Europe and the United States. He has published in Greek, English, French, Portuguese, Hebrew, Albanian and Serbo-Croatian in scientific reviews or journals in the field of legal and political theory, focusing on issues related to human rights, minorities, migrants and citizenship. Prof. Christopoulos is frequently interviewed by international or Greek media and writes regularly in the Greek press and certain web portals. His last book addresses the current refugee situation in Greece (Papazisis Publ. Athens, 2016, with Georgia Spyropoulou).

NDEYE DIOBAYE

Ndeye Diobaye is a French writer of Senegalese and Malian origins. She graduated from Sciences Po Paris in 2014, Ndeye’s work focuses on the representation of minorities in the media, a field in which she has been working in for the past three years, first as a journalist and now as a communications strategy consultant. She is completing her masters in politics and communications at the London School of Economics: her dissertation focuses on the responses to domestic terrorism on social media and the politics of online solidarity. Upon graduating, Ndeye will be joining a strategy consulting firm in Libreville, Gabon, where she will provide communications solutions for Francophone African governments and companies. She hopes to publish her first novel in the next two years. She is a Humanity in Action Senior Fellow (France 2014).

KONSTANTY GEBERT

Konstanty Gebert is an Associate Fellow at the European Council for Foreign Relations and an international reporter and columnist at Gazeta Wyborcza, Poland’s largest daily publication. He also serves as a Special Advisor on International Affairs with Humanity in Action. During the 1970s, he was a democratic opposition activist and organizer of the Jewish Flying University; while in the 1980s, under martial law, he was an underground journalist. He covered the Bosnian War between 1992 and 1995 for Polish and international media. He is the co-founder of the Polish Council of Christians and Jews and the founder of Midrasz, a monthly Polish Jewish intellectual publication. Konstanty Gebert serves as a board member for the Taube Centre for the Renewal of Jewish Life in Poland as well as the Einstein Forum in Potsdam, Germany, and the Advisory Board of the Dutch Jewish Humanitarian Fund in Amsterdam. He has taught across Poland, Israel and the United States. He has authored ten books, which examine topics such as: the Polish democratic transformation, French policy toward Poland, the Yugoslav wars, the wars of Israel, Torah commentary and post-war Polish Jewry. His essays have appeared in two dozen publications in Poland and abroad, and his articles have been featured in newspapers around the world.

JUDITH S. GOLDSTEIN

Judith S. Goldstein founded Humanity in Action in 1997 and has served as its Executive Director ever since. Under Judith's leadership, Humanity in Action has organized educational programs on international affairs, diversity and human rights in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece, Poland, the Netherlands and the United States. She received her Ph.D. in history from Columbia University and was a Woodrow Wilson Scholar for her MA studies. Judith has written several books and articles about European and American history, art and landscape architecture. She is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and several boards and advisory groups.

ANDERS JERICHOW

Anders Jerichow is a Danish columnist, frequent commentator on international affairs and an international media activist focusing on human rights and the Middle East. He has been an editor at the Danish newspaper Politiken since 2002 and also Editor-in-Chief of the Copenhagen daily newspaper Aktuel. He is the author of several books, mostly on human rights, civil society and the Middle East. Notably, he published a book on political cartoonists in a global minefield (2011), telling the story of cartoonists in South Africa, Jordan, Zimbabwe, India, Hong Kong, the United States, France, Britain, Sweden and the cartoon controversy in his home country. Jerichow is currently the Chair of Humanity in Action Denmark.

GEORGIOS KAMINIS

Georgios Kaminis was elected Mayor of Athens in November 2010 and re-elected to a second term in May 2014. Prior to his election as Mayor of Athens, Mr. Kaminis served as Greek Ombudsman. From 1998 to May 2003, he was Deputy Ombudsman for Human Rights at the Greek Ombudsman. In 2003, he was unanimously elected Greek Ombudsman by the Greek Parliament, and he was re-elected for a second term in 2007. In August 2010, Mr. Kaminis resigned from the post of the Greek Ombudsman in order to stand as an independent mayoral candidate for the City of Athens. In the 1990s, Mr. Kaminis worked as a lecturer and assistant professor of constitutional law in the Faculty of Law at the University of Athens. Mr. Kaminis studied law at the University of Athens, and holds a doctoral degree (Doctorat d'Etat) from the University of Paris I. He was born in New York City and he has also lived in Osaka, Paris, Madrid and Heidelberg. In addition to his native Greek language, he speaks fluent English, French, Spanish and German. Mr. Kaminis is married and has two children.

ELIDOR MËHILLI

Elidor Mëhilli holds a PhD from Princeton University and undergraduate degrees from Cornell. He is an Assistant Professor in the Department of History at Hunter College, City University of New York, where he teaches European and international history. Prior to this position, he held a Mellon fellowship at the University of Pennsylvania and a post-doctoral fellowship at Columbia University. He has also held visiting appointments at the Zentrum für Zeithistorische Forschung (Potsdam, Germany) and at Birkbeck College (London). His own research has appeared in The Journal of Cold War Studies, Kritika: Explorations in Russian and Eurasian History, International History Review, and a number of edited volumes. His forthcoming book will offer the first archive-based account of Albania's communist dictatorship, one of the most brutal in Europe's recent history. Outside of his academic work, he has written on soccer and Balkan nationalism for Quartz.com, on denial and remembrance in Srebrenica for Conversation.com, and on the Mediterranean prehistory of the refugee crisis. For the past decade, he has also published over 30 editorials in the largest Albanian daily newspapers (Shqip, Shekulli, MAPO) on history, politics, education policy, and current affairs. He lives in New York City. Elidor is a Humanity in Action Senior Fellow (The Netherlands 2003).

RENA MOLHO

Dr. Rena Molho taught the history of Greek Jewry in Panteion University in Athens. Her work focuses on the different aspects of Ottoman and Greek Jewish history and civilization and, more specifically, that of the Jews of Salonika. She has published more than 60 studies in both Greek and international scientific books, encyclopedias and journals. Her first book The Jews of Thessaloniki, 1856-1919: A Unique Community received the Athens Academy Award in 2000. It was published in Greek by Themelio in 2001, 2006 and made its third edition in 2014 by Patakis. Her second book Salonica and Istanbul: Social, Political and Cultural Aspects of Jewish Life was published by Isispress in Istanbul, in 2005. Her book entitled Jewish Sites in Thessaloniki: A Brief History and Guide was published in 2009 by Lycabettus Press Athens and has since been translated into Greek and German. Her book The Memoirs of Dr. Meir Yoel: An Autobiographical Source on Social Change in Salonica at the Turn of the 20th Century was published by Isispress in Istanbul in 2011. In the same year Rena

Her latest book with the title The Holocaust of Greek Jews, Studies in History and Memory was published in Greek and is now being translated into German.

HERACLES MOSKOFF

Heracles Moskoff studied social anthropology in London (BSc) and graduated with a sociology PhD from the London School of Economics. Since 2001, he worked as an Expert Counsellor with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs on Human Security and Trafficking in Human Beings (THB). He worked with Hellenic Agency for International Development/Ministry of Foreign Affairs and was responsible for the Human Security Network and Public Private Partnerships against THB. From 2004 to 2008, he coordinated the Inter-ministerial Committee and drafted two national action plans (2004 and 2006). In 2008, he moved to the Office of the Secretary General and coordinated an informal national coordination mechanism to monitor and combat THB. His duties were to facilitate the 'national ownership' of international best practices regarding protection, prevention, prosecution and partnership. In his capacity as National Rapporteur, his main field of interest and expertise is inter-agency cooperation, identifying unusual partners in prevention and promoting new partnerships with a view to raise public awareness, educate competent authorities and tackle the 'demand side' of THB including the private sector (corporate social responsibility against THB). Dr. Moskoff was also a lecturer in Panteion University and his research has been published by the Hellenic Foundation for Foreign and European Policy (ELIAMEP), the Defense Analysis Institute, the Migration Policy Institute, the Local Administration Institute, ISTAME and others.

YONOUS MUHAMMADI

Forced to leave Afghanistan in 1997 during his final semester of medical college, Yonous Muhammadi stayed in Pakistan and then Iran where he worked to support refugees, always with the hope of returning to Afghanistan. When it became clear that he could not return to his country, he continued to Turkey and then Greece, where he arrived in 2001 and was recognized as a political refugee. An activist from the beginning, he participated in the creation of the Afghan Community in Greece, of which he was elected president from 2007 to 2013. Through his work, Mr. Muhammadi pursued the need to unite refugee communities. In 2010 he helped to found a refugee network, the Greek Forum of Refugees (GFR), which strives to promote cooperation between refugee communities. Elected as President of GFR in 2013, he is active in providing everyday support for refugees, as well as working to advocate for their rights across Greece and beyond. In 2015, he was elected as a member of the European Migration Forum and, in 2016, elected as a member of the National Council against Racism of the Ministry of Justice.

MYRTO POPADOPOULOS

Myrto Papadopoulou finished her studies in 2003 after completing a five-year fine arts degree, majoring in painting and photography. In 2006, she applied for a documentary photography degree at the International Center of Photography in New York, where she was granted a scholarship. She has won various awards and nominations and, in 2013, she was a winner and named emerging photographer 2013 by the Magenta Foundation in Canada. SPEAKERS

OWUSU AKOTO

Owusu Akoto is the senior advisor on value chains at the UK Ministry of Justice, (MoJ). He leads the internal reform program to improve how the National Offender Management Service works with partners. Owusu was initially asked to join the MoJ to work on the 2013 'overcharging' scandal: this occupied the top of the UK political agenda and involved the discovery over overcharging by providers of home-curfew monitoring equipment and services. The disputes concluded with a settlement totaling £180m and was a watershed moment for the UK government in its commercial undertakings. Subsequently, Owusu was asked by the Director of Rehabilitation Services to oversee the delivery of probation (for low and medium risk) in Greater London. Owusu also worked as a management consultant and at the War Crimes Chamber of Bosnia and Herzegovina and Interpol. Born in London, raised in Ghana and educated in the United States, Owusu attended the University of Pennsylvania, where he graduated with the Senior Honour Award. In Ghana, Owusu was a television talk show host on national TV, where his dialogue with the public focused on social issues that affect youth. Owusu is also an award-winning photographer with a number of solo features and exhibits under his name. Owusu is a Humanity in Action Senior Fellow (Denmark 2003).

ANTONIS ANTONIOU

Antonis Antoniou's professional background is mostly connected to working with socially disadvantaged populations. These include people with addiction problems, young offenders, refugees and immigrants, as well as groups inside penitentiary centers. In 1999, he graduated from the Department of Psychology at the University of Crete in Rethimno. Afterwards, he attended two masters degree programs - the counseling psychology program at the National University of Athens and the organizational and economic psychology program at Panteion University. Since 2002, he has been attending training programs at the European Center for the Study of Anthropolos. He has been a collaborator of the Center since 2009. In 2009, he started his private practice, which includes individual and group psychotherapy. His collaboration with the Association for the Social Support of Youth (ARSIS) began in 2002. From 2009 to 2011, Antoniou was the general supervisor of the office of ARSIS in Athens. Currently, he is the coordinator of the Youth Support Center in Athens, as well as the supervisor of the volunteers and the interns of ARSIS. Outside of work, Antoniou's passions are music (playing drums, percussion, guitar), art (drawing, comics), cinema and traveling.

ABOUT HUMANITY IN ACTION

Humanity in Action is an international organization that educates, inspires and connects a network of university students and young professionals committed to promoting human rights, diversity and active citizenship in their own communities and around the world.

Humanity in Action has educated over 1,650 young leaders in their 20s, 30s and 40's who now form a unique international network. Through its programs and partnerships with outstanding civic and educational organizations including the National Center for Civil and Human Rights and The New School, Humanity in Action contributes in innovative ways to advance human rights and democratic freedoms.

Humanity in Action's annual fellowship programs bring together more than 150 European and American university students, graduate students and young professionals each summer in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Denmark, France, Germany, Poland, the Netherlands and the United States to discuss, learn and research in international groups. Humanity in Action Fellows meet leading experts and activists to study the Holocaust and contemporary challenges to minority rights. Fellows write research-based articles and develop teaching tools to share what they learned in their programs.

Humanity in Action selects Fellows from Bosnia and Herzegovina, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece, Poland, the Netherlands, Turkey, Ukraine and the United States. Humanity in Action supports all Fellows financially for the duration of their programs, allowing for the merit-based selection of diverse applicants. Humanity in Action also provides professional development opportunities. It maintains an international network of students, young professionals, established leaders, experts and partners for which it organizes a range of educational and career opportunities, including seminars, workshops, study trips and fellowship positions at leading civic and political institutions, such as the European Parliament, U.S. Congress, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) of Ohio and the International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia. These opportunities encourage emerging leaders to develop their professional abilities and introduce established leaders to the ideas of the younger generation.

Humanity in Action's network of leaders is a valuable resource to policy-makers, diplomats, educators, business leaders and civic-minded individuals and organizations. By the end of the decade, Humanity in Action will connect over 2,500 professionals working in all sectors, on a range of critical issues, in countries around the world.

Humanity in Action is a non-profit, non-partisan organization with governing and advisory Boards in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Denmark, France, Germany, the Netherlands, Poland and the United States. Humanity in Action's international headquarters is in New York City. Major supporters of Humanity in Action have included the Ford Foundation, Mellon Foundation, the Richard and Rhoda Goldman Fund, Foundation Remembrance, Responsibility and Future (EVZ), the Dutch Ministry for Health, Welfare and Sport and the U.S. Department of State.
