Our Fellowships are as much about human rights violations as they are about solutions to those problems. The counter-actions that we propagate are driven by features such as respect for diversity, openness for dialogue, centring the perspectives and experiences of marginalized groups. Counter-actions and good practices do not just fall from above. They are instigated by people who dare to take a stance on a path less-travelled in turn making it easier for others to follow. Such people lead by example, regardless of the function and position they hold. Every year we try to dedicate our fellowship to someone like that.

This year’s program is dedicated to the late Gdańsk’s Mayor Paweł Adamowicz who was known and respected for ideals he put to work, his dedication to social change and... kindness. He was murdered while on duty during Poland’s largest and annual nationwide charity event at the beginning of this year. This tragedy has been categorized as hate crime because hate speech, which permeates our starkly polarized society fuelled it greatly. Mayor Adamowicz was attacked in Gdańsk, a city he loved and one that is a Polish symbol of ‘solidarity’ (as that is where the Solidarity movement begun). He was stabbed on a stage in front of hundreds of people after giving his moving speech. Some of his last words were “this is a wonderful time of sharing the goodness”. RIP.
WELCOME

2019 HIA FELLOWSHIP IN WARSAW

HIA Poland general objectives of the Fellowship:
- broadening and deepening the knowledge about past and present human rights challenges and ways of counteracting them by the Polish state and society with the special thematic focus on the discourse on diversity and (counteracting) xenophobia, discrimination and hate speech,
- getting to know innovative methods and strategies of counteracting human rights violations & human rights culture promotion as well as interesting/influential actors of the Polish human rights system (mainly non-governmental organizations and their projects),
- developing and enhancing skills and know-how necessary to conceive and conduct professional social and advocacy campaigns on social media, which counteract xenophobia, discrimination and hate speech (with the help of community organizing methods) and contribute to development of innovations in this area,
- inspiring to take up individual actions in the field of human and minority rights, which should help fellows further develop their leadership potential,
- introducing fellows to the global Humanity in Action network and inviting them to active participation in its activities and Senior Fellows Networks.

Structure

The fellowship consists of theory and praxis oriented sessions, which complement each other and are intertwined. In the first week the emphasis will be more on developing knowledge and exchanging ideas in debates, whereas the second and third program week activities will be more focused on enhancing skills essential in human rights activism by completing a given task. In other words, throughout the fellowship, thanks to application of the active ‘learning by doing’ methods and with the help of experienced trainers, the participants will have a chance to effectively combine theory with practice.

The leading question of the program is how the Polish state and society have been dealing with human rights challenges from the historical and contemporary perspective. Poland will be treated as a main case study and/or point of reference throughout the whole fellowship. Content-wise the program aims to cover selected historical, cultural and socio-economic contexts, in which the human rights challenges arise. Apart from WW2 and the Holocaust, the experience of the socialist regime, and the phenomenon of the Solidarity Movement, as well as the system transformation are the key historical factors which in one way or the other shaped the contemporary Polish society.

Taking into consideration the specific focus on diversity and interconnected challenges, for instance in form of discrimination and hate speech, the program will first of all cover mechanisms generating conditions in which discrimination, xenophobia and hate speech arise, persist and grow stronger. Secondly, the program will serve as a platform for discussion on, among others, the issues of democracy’s fragility, minorities’ rights, and taking action against discrimination and hate speech.
Furthermore, the program will scrutinize current cases of discrimination and marginalization of selected groups which exemplify the challenges resulting from a growing diversity, as well as cases explaining innovative strategies and good practices of counteracting the existing problems, developed by various actors of the Polish system of human rights protection. More specifically, on-line and off-line (and a mixture of both dimensions) discrimination and hate speech will be in the spotlight both in terms of being a social problem and an issue against which various sectors of the civic society have generated innovative responses.

On the basis of knowledge and experiences gathered gradually in the program, the fellows will take part in a training of skills essential for activists/leaders/social entrepreneurs, and will have the opportunity to take action by developing and implementing/testing a solution to a given social and human rights challenge or sustainability dilemma identified by local communities & local NGOs. Fellows will explore how to respond/prevent discrimination and hate speech effectively, and how to create sustainable solutions with use of innovative and creative tools from education, technology and social entrepreneurship spheres including NGO products, apps, e-platforms, educational scenarios and social campaigns. Acknowledging the potential of modern technologies in the work towards social change, the program provides its participants with the opportunity to learn how to involve civic society into debates on human rights violations with a particular focus on discrimination and hate speech. This educational process will be conducted under supervision of experienced trainers.

As working directly with local communities might have a considerable potential for igniting sparks of social change, fellows will engage in cooperation with one of selected NGOs lead in most of the cases by HIA Senior Fellows. Activities will be supervised by mentors from those organizations and will be done with the people involved and directly affected by specific cases of discrimination. In this setting, fellows will be able to take action in a more conscious way, thus supporting communities in a structured way. We believe that this grass-roots experience and dialogue with communities will allow fellows to come up with thoughtful strategies for addressing human rights issues connected to xenophobia, discrimination, ‘migration crisis’ and the rise of extremist movements. In order to ensure this, fellows will cooperate with the following organizations:

- Gościnność (Hospitality Initiative) - an Action Project of Nina Bilal (HIA Diplomacy and Diversity Fellowship 2016) based on educational cooking workshops run by immigrants and dedicated for youth aged between 9-16 years old. The workshops provide an opportunity to learn not only about different cuisines, but also about the meanings and stories behind such terms as migration, refugee, immigrant, asylum-seeker, or hospitality. Mentor: Nina Lazarczyk-Bilal

  Nina is the initiator and coordinator of the educational “Hospitality Project” (www.goscinnosc.org) aiming at enhancing knowledge of migration and promoting tolerance among youth. Nina Lazarczyk-Bilal is a PhD student at the University of Warsaw, Faculty of Management, where she is preparing her PhD dissertation on the entrepreneurship of refugees in the example of Sweden. She holds her MSc in Peace and Conflict Studies from Uppsala University.

- Intervencja Pasażerska (Passenger Intervention) - an Action Project of Miłosz Lindner (Warsaw Fellowship 2017) supports safe urban communication for all, regardless of skin colour, race and languages used the passengers. Their method involves the activation of bystanders/eyewitnesses in order to prevent any physical or verbal attacks in public transport using existing urban authorities.

- Kampania Przeciw Homofobii (Campaign Against Homophobia) was established in order to protect the constitutionally guaranteed rights of LGBT individuals on September 11th, 2001. The initial goals were to establish a group which would actively pursue an open dialogue with the decision makers on the needs and rights of LGBT people and to lobby for social change. Currently the mission of KPH is ensure dignity, acceptance and equal treatment for LGBTI people in Poland, their families and close ones. Gosia Kot (Warsaw Fellowship 2017) is a Board Member of Campaign Against Homophobia.

- Forum for Dialogue is dedicated to inspiring new connections between contemporary Poland and the Jewish people. Forum recognizes that the traces of ties that were ruptured in World War Two remain in memories and family stories, but also in misunderstandings and prejudices harbored. Forum focuses its work in Poland on raising awareness of the histories of Jews in Poland, including the way these histories were conveyed to descendants of Polish Jews. It shows different perspectives on shared historical events. Internationally, Forum facilitates the formation of bonds between Jews and the country of their ancestors. It builds people-to-people trust. It confronts difficult questions. It connects people and their histories. It works with thought leaders, activists, teachers and students from Poland and from abroad.

Forum for Dialogue mentors:

Monika Halaczek
Graduate of international relations with experience in coordinating programs for youth and non-formal education. She has worked with Humanity in Action Poland, supporting summer human rights programs. Through the HIA Grassroots Activism Fellowship, she interned at the Jewish Community Relations Council in San Francisco, USA.

Julia Machnowska
Graduate of the Faculty of Journalism and Political Science and the Faculty of History at the University of Warsaw. Julia is involved with The Studio of Reportage and Document of Polish Radio, where she specializes in reportage. She also works with oral history, cooperating with such organizations as the Praga Museum of Warsaw and Yahad-in Unum.

HER Docs Film Festival is the first documentary film festival in Poland celebrating the oeuvre of female film auteurs. One of its main goals is to inspire hearts and minds through the power of visual herstory, while tackling issues important to modern civil society. HER Docs Film Festival was brought to life with the desire to provide a space for everyone ready to challenge inequalities and injustice of the world that we live in. We want the festival to be an inclusive space, where a dialogue with different groups, sexes, identities and world views will be opened.

HER Docs Mentor: Maya Szydlowska
Maja Szydlowska is a human rights lawyer by training, currently working for Transparency International headquarters in Berlin, Germany. In recent years she has worked for several Polish and international NGOs, including the Helsinki Foundation for Human Rights, the Gender Equality Observatory and the Coalition for the International Criminal Court office in Brussels. Passionate about the power of visual storytelling for human rights advocacy, she has co-founded and is currently working on HER Docs Film Festival - the first Polish documentary film festival presenting the oeuvre of female auteurs.

› Human Library Warsaw is an organization designed to build a positive framework for conversations that can challenge stereotypes and prejudices through dialogue. The Human Library is a place where real people are on loan to readers. A place where difficult questions are expected, appreciated and answered.

› „Our Choice” Foundation/The Ukrainian House - the major goal of the „Our Choice” Foundation (Fundacja „Nasz Wybór”) is to assist Ukrainian migrants in the integration process with the Polish society, developing cultural, economic, educational and political relations between Poland and Ukraine as well as promoting democratic values and civic society. Majority of actions is being addressed at Ukrainian migrants in Poland through various forms such as newspaper and website „Our Choice”, cultural events, sociological research, fundraising actions, Ukrainian Women Club and weekend club for kids „Glove”. The Ukrainian House is the place which hosts all these initiatives and is the place of encounter for all foreigners. It enables them to feel like at home and to feel attached to a community as well as it serves as a friendly space for actions and exchange of experiences.

„Our Choice” Mentor: Oleksandra Iwaniuk
Sasha is a graduate of the College of Europe (Natolin) and Kyiv-Mohyla Academy (Kyiv). She is also a writer, whose book Amor(t)e has been longlisted for the BBC Book of the Year and UNESCO’s City of Literature awards. She is founder and a host of the Literary Club at the Ukrainian House in Warsaw, aimed at building up a dialogue between Poles and Ukrainians through literature. She also runs the Ukrainian Women Club in Warsaw, aimed at helping Ukrainian women to build their careers in Poland.

Additionally, throughout the whole program fellows will have the opportunity to enhance their (creative) writing and journalistic skills by sharing their reflections and impressions with the wider public on the HIA Poland’s FB page and on program’s blog http://hiapoland2019.blogspot.com. Also, the fellows will have the chance to try out different discussion techniques/methods while preparing and facilitating daily Fellows’ Discussions.
CODE OF CONDUCT FOR PROGRAM PARTICIPANTS

Humanity in Action is committed to providing a respectful environment to all those involved in its programs. Fellows, Senior Fellows, Program Interns and Staff in all countries (collectively, “Network Members”) are ambassadors of Humanity in Action and should demonstrate appropriate conduct in the programs and in public. This Code of Conduct describes Humanity in Action’s expectations for the behavior of its Network Members throughout their time in the fellowship programs and network activities. Humanity in Action’s Board of Directors follows a similar Code of Conduct which is appropriate for the Board Members’ engagement with Humanity in Action.

RESPECT FOR STAFF AND PEERS

All Network Members approach each other with respect. The themes presented during Humanity in Action programs are challenging and often highly sensitive. Network Members approach discussions with maturity, honesty and an openness to explore their own perspectives and those of others. Network Members engage in these highly sensitive discussions in ways that are constructive for each individual and the group.

RESPECT FOR SPEAKERS

Network Members approach speakers with respect and with a desire to learn – even from speakers with whom they strongly disagree. Humanity in Action does not assume that Network Members will agree with all the viewpoints presented by all speakers. In these cases, Humanity in Action encourages Network Members to vocalize their disagreements in a respectful and constructive manner.

Network Members may attend sessions during the programs that are confidential, off-the-record or sensitive in subject matter. They agree to follow the requests of speakers and the program staff regarding confidentiality, attribution and social media.

RESPECT FOR HOST FAMILIES AND OTHER ACCOMMODATIONS

Network Members comport themselves in places of accommodations – whether hotels, hostels, homestays or other locations – with respect and comply with any associated rules or standards of conduct. Non-Network Members cannot stay overnight in any Humanity in Action-sponsored accommodations without pre-approval from program staff. If placed in homestays, Network Members should be sensitive to their hosts’ expectations and show an openness and eagerness to get to know the person or family.

CULTURAL SENSITIVITY AND ADAPTABILITY

Network Members are sensitive to cultural and social differences and recognize that some of behaviors they may find uncomfortable pertain to these different contexts. Although cultural misunderstandings may occur – during and outside the program – Network Members should always show respect and a willingness to understand and work through as best possible these cultural differences.

TIMELINESS

Network Members attend each scheduled session at the designated times. Should a Network Member need to arrive late, the Network Member should contact program staff in advance. Program staff may excuse absences on a case-by-case basis.
RESPECT FOR STAFF AND PEERS

All Network Members approach each other with respect. The themes presented during Humanity in Action programs are challenging and often highly sensitive. Network Members approach discussions with maturity, honesty and an openness to explore their own perspectives and those of others. Network Members engage in these highly sensitive discussions in ways that are constructive for each individual and the group.

SAFETY AND HARASSMENT

Humanity in Action is committed to providing an environment where people can interact comfortably and freely from any form of harassment, sexual or otherwise. Such offensive behavior may relate to race, gender, sexual orientation and identity, religion, national origin, disability, or other protected statuses and/or identities. Network Members refrain from offensive behavior and remarks in the program involving other Network Members, Board Members, visitors, speakers and/or other third parties. Humanity in Action will promptly investigate reported cases of harassment. Please see Humanity in Action’s Harassment Policy for further details. Network Members may attend sessions during the programs that are confidential, off-the-record or sensitive in subject matter. They agree to follow the requests of speakers and the program staff regarding confidentiality, attribution and social media.

RELATIONSHIPS

Humanity in Action Staff, Program Interns and Board Members do not engage in intimate, sexual or romantic relationships, suggestive or otherwise, with Fellows during the Fellows’ programs. All Staff and Board Members also refrain from engaging in intimate, sexual or romantic relationships, suggestive or otherwise, with Program Interns during the programs.

ADJUDICATION

Network Members are encouraged to report immediately any issue or concern to any staff member. Humanity in Action will investigate each reported issue/concern and will take appropriate action.

NATIONAL AND LOCAL LAW

All Network Members follow the laws governing the countries where their programs take place and are susceptible to associated penalties should those laws be broken. Network Members are ambassadors of Humanity in Action and should demonstrate appropriate behavior.

Network members who fail to comply with Humanity in Action’s code of conduct will be subject to penalties that will be determined on a case-by-case basis by the program staff and other international staff, including the executive director. When possible and appropriate, Humanity in Action staff will provide a warning of a breach of the code of conduct to network members and give them the opportunity to amend their behavior. Humanity in action staff will adjudicate minor issues on a case-by-case basis. For serious violations of the code of conduct, the executive director will immediately be called upon to intervene. Serious breaches of the code of conduct could lead Humanity in Action staff to immediate dismiss a network member from the program and network after consultation with the executive director.

Let’s Get to Learn About Us in the Fellowship

What makes an activist? How does one become involved in human rights advocacy? During this day, we will take a closer look at our activist life paths. Knowing each other better will allow us to agree upon the rules, which will govern our community during the next four weeks. Afterwards, we will take a guided walk through Warsaw’s Jewish history and present.

WEEK 1:
GENERAL CONTEXT
MONDAY, JUNE 10

Freedom, Democracy & Solidarity
Is dialogue really possible in the context of a society so deeply divided, as it is the case with Poland? What are the most pressing issues that made Poles take to the streets recently? Is the protest the new norm? Is it outrage? This day will provide us with an overview of the leading social issues in the Polish public debate. The last program element is the second part of the guided walk tour through Warsaw, this time in the Praga district. How did ethnic/religious diversity in Poland look in the past? And how does it look now?

Polarization & Divisions
Polish identity is being challenged and re-defined as we speak. During this day, we will reflect on what it means to be a Pole. Who can belong to the Polish society? Why “the Other” is not welcome? Has it always been the case? What are the mechanisms of hate speech? We will discuss the thin line between hate speech and freedom of speech so come prepared to challenge and be challenged.

Poles and Jews. Contradictory or Complementary Narratives?

Polish-Jewish dialogue and relations have not been easy, which we will explore during this day’s sessions. Born and raised in Queens, New York, Jacob Fertig is a recent graduate of NYU Tisch School of the Arts with a BFA in Film & Television and a minor in Hebrew & Judaic Studies. He studied away in Havana, Cuba for a semester, collaborating with Cuban filmmakers on short documentary productions. Jacob has traveled all over the US and abroad directing documentaries on human rights, migration stories, religion and faith, and environmental justice. He plans to start his own production company that seeks to bring underrepresented narratives to light. Jacob loves playing guitar, running, and traveling off the beaten path with his camera.

KATHERINE FESKE-KIRBY
Bucknell University | Ardmore, USA

Katherine (Kate) Feske-Kirby currently works for the Violence Intervention Program at the Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia as a clinical research assistant for a project evaluating specific intervention methods’ ability to promote recovery and reduce post-traumatic stress symptoms in children following violent injuries. Kate earned her Bachelor of Arts in Anthropology, Geography, and Philosophy from Bucknell University in 2017. While at school, she gained experience as a field research assistant where she supported faculty research on how the intersection of gentrification, policing, and incarceration affects the economy of minority residents in inner city Philadelphia. She studied abroad in Derry, Northern Ireland, and Copenhagen, Denmark, where her work focused on peace and reconciliation processes and urban planning respectively. For relaxation, she enjoys exercising, traveling to new places, and rewatching her favorite sitcoms.
MARÁ ANNA FRANKÉ
Charité Berlin | Berlin, Germany

Mara, born and raised in western Germany, is currently in her fourth year of medical school at Charité university, Berlin. She has also spent one semester at the university of Padova in Italy. For the last three years Mara has been active in the project “Aufklärung Organspende”, which provides neutral education about organ donation. Currently she is heading the initiative nationwide.

Furthermore Mara took part in a local mentoring program for children of low social status for more than two years and has, more recently, become an active member of the Global Health Initiative of the german medical students association. After a recent internship in Togo, Mara, together with other volunteers, is in the process of funding a beneficiary association to support local projects and initiatives in Togo.

After graduating medical school Mara plans to obtain a master’s degree in International Development Studies and pursue a career in Global Health.

NATALIA GRZANKOWSKA
University of Aberdeen | Bydgoszcz, Poland

Born and raised in Bydgoszcz (Poland), Natalia Grzankowska is a cultural diversity enthusiast determined to advocate for and work towards a culture of tolerance. She is an IB Alumna and a third-year student of Anthropology & Hispanic Studies at the University of Aberdeen (Scotland). During her academic exchange in Mexico, Natalia was working on a project with Young Urban Indigenous collective, investigating ways to promote solidarity and interculturality effectively among university students and the wider society. Back in Aberdeen, she volunteers with Shelter Scotland, housing and homelessness charity, where she supports members of the Polish community who happen to be in a precarious housing situation. In her free time, she loves to travel, dance and read fantasy books.

BEATA JANUS

JULIA KONARSKA
Coventry | Cracow, Poland
I was born in Cracow and that's where I spent most of my life. I moved out after high school, lived in Sweden and Spain for a while to finally start a degree in Politics at Coventry University in England. I became very passionate about advocating for human rights, especially women’s rights and sexual minority rights. I was a member of Politics society and I’ve worked for a couple of places including a women’s rights organization in the Netherlands. I am currently finishing my dissertation thesis which revolves around illiberal democracy and lack of inclusivity of the public sphere in Poland. I aim to pursue a Masters degree in Documentary Practice and use film to address social issues and stark social inequalities.
Zuzanna Krzatała is a graduate of Global Studies at Eugene Lang College and a Research Fellow of the Zolberg Institute on Migration and Mobility at the New School for Social Research in New York. Based on her research in Moria refugee camp in Lesbos, she is completing a graduate thesis exploring the concept of vulnerability amongst survivors of SGBV. Her academic work focuses on the politics of refugee representation from a gender perspective, as demonstrated through her fieldwork in the African Great Lakes and the Middle East. Zuzanna has worked at the International Rescue Committee for David Miliband and was involved in the drafting of the feminist humanitarian agenda. She is also an active member of the Model Alliance, an organization which protects models from sexual assault in the workplace and was successful in passing the “Stop Sexual Harassment Act” signed into law in 2018 by Mayor de Blasio.

Dagmara Magryta
Universidad de Santiago de Compostela | Ogrodzieniec, Poland

Grew up in picturesque Ogrodzieniec, but her life changed after starting high school in Katowice. There Dagmara began to commit herself to all possible extracurricular activities: writing a newspaper, preparing official events, writing a blog in a team. During her studies Dagmara was passionate volunteer in several organisations, coordinator of youth events, team member and team leader at over ten youth projects. She graduated with honours 5th edition of Silesian Leaders Academy, participated in training course about mutual intercultural learning. She says studies are her true passion: in Poland Dagmara studied Polish and German Philology, now she is a part of a prestigious study program in field of applied linguistics. Dagmara started it in Spain, currently leaves in Rome.

Krystal McLeod
Notre Dame | USA

Krystal is a 2015 Truman Scholar. She is most passionate about advancing diversity, inclusion, and equity in global contexts. After witnessing first-hand the educational disparities within her own household and community, she used her experience with national nonprofits, non-governmental organizations, and the United Nations Department of Public Information, to develop her own educational initiative “My” Right to Learn, as both a Dalai Lama and Gallatin Global Human Rights Fellow. In 2014, she instituted this summer program for low-income minority youth. Since then New York University has recognized “My” Right to Learn for its lasting impact with the 2015 Martin Luther King Trailblazer Award. She is a President’s Service Individual Awardee, a New York State Independent Sector Community Service Awardee, OP Outstanding Regional HEOP Student Recipient, Dean’s Award Recipient, and University Honors Scholar. A 2016 graduate of NYU’s College of Arts and Science, Krystal is currently pursuing her law degree at the University of Notre Dame.

Serena Oduro
Seattle University | Portland, USA

Serena Oduro is a rising senior at Seattle University with a major in History with minors in Business Administration, Chinese, and Philosophy. She has also studied at the University of Sussex as a Fulbright Summer Institute Recipient in 2017 and at the University of Ghana in Fall 2018. Being a member of Seattle University’s Ethics Bowl Team, a marketing intern at the Whitney Museum of American Art, and Student Representative for Seattle University’s College of Arts and Science’s Leadership Committee on Intersectionality and Justice have led Serena to amalgamate her historical, ethical reasoning, and business/technological skills to create tangible solutions for societal problems. After Seattle University, Serena plans to pursue a Masters in Internet Policy to bring her academic and philosophical lens to the fore of the online landscape.
IZABELA ORLOW
University of Warsaw | Warsaw, Poland

I am a student of Ethnology and Cultural Anthropology in Warsaw, Poland. In my field research in Ukrainian Carpathians I have investigated topics of religious pluralism and relationship between community and personal identity. The studies were a practical course of crossing boundaries between me and the “Other” and understanding people despite any discrepancies. That is essential in my workplace - a refugee center in Warsaw, where for over three years I have been working as an educator. I co-lead there a daycare for youth with an experience of forced migration. The efforts of our small team aim to integrate youth of different origins and provide them with an opportunity for safe play and self-development. We also counteract educational inequities and help refugee families to orientate in a new reality. As a second occupation, I am a teaching assistant in a kindergarten and a school for children with multiple disabilities.

MARINA KALLIROI PAPAZOTOU
Leiden University | Kavala, Greece

Born and raised in Greece, Marina Papazotou went on to pursue an extensive legal education. She got her first Law Degree from Aristotle University (GR), her LL.M in European Law from Leiden University (NL) and qualified as a lawyer after taking the Greek Bar Exam. However, she soon realised that something was missing; so instead of settling to law practice, she went abroad looking for less conventional career opportunities. First, she did Communication internship at Eurojust in The Hague. Then, she did a traineeship at the Protocol Service of the European Parliament in Brussels. Currently, she works at the Press Office of the Greek Embassy in London and she just completed a policy research on Gender Equality and Youth Employment. Marina seeks to explore the relation between human rights and culture, so after her participation to the HLA network, she plans to do a MA in Cultural Management.

SHAWN REILLY
Vanderbilt University | Staten Island, USA

Shawn Reilly recently graduated from Vanderbilt University with a Bachelor of Science in Human and Organizational Development, and will graduate in May with a Masters of Education degree in Learning and Design from Peabody College. They currently serve as the program coordinator for the Trans Buddy Program at LGBTQ Health at Vanderbilt. Recently, the Program for LGBTQ Health opened the first transgender health clinic in the US South. As an undergraduate, Reilly was instrumental in a successful campaign to gain gender inclusive housing to support transgender and gender-expansive students on campus. Reilly is involved with a number of organizations and serves as the Student Engagement and Leadership Chair of GLSEN Tennessee, Youth Advisory Board member of Youth-Tech+Health, and as a member of the TN Department of Health Transgender Task Force. Reilly has two incredible cats, and enjoys camping, making zines, dancing, and seeing live music.

MARCELINA ROSIŃSKA
Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznan | Poznan, Poland

Marcelina Rosińska is about to finish her Master’s Degree in Law at Adam Mickiewicz University. Her master thesis is about the impact of the refugee crisis on the European Union.

As an erasmus+ scholar she had a chance to study at the Catholic University of Valencia, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki and University of Lisbon. Moreover, she gained her working experience in Spain while interning in the legal department of Movimiento por la Paz, el Desarme y la Libertad in Kazakhstan during Astana Expo 2017 and at Adamastor organization in Portugal (EVS). Thanks to that she speaks Spanish, English, Portuguese, Russian and of course Polish.

She has been actively contributing to the organization of vast conferences, workshops, and open lectures. Moreover, she is a Project Manager of Prawo warte Poznania - a project aiming at raising legal awareness of citizens.
MACIEJ ROTOWSKI
PWSFTwiT | Poland

Maciej Rotowski - born and raised in Warsaw, Poland. He studied film directing in Polish National Film School in Lodz. In 2015 he was actively involved during the so-called ‘refugee crisis’ as a volunteer, then in 2016 he shot ‘Kamp’ - a short documentary about Kurdish refugee camp in Greece. As an activist he upates many initiatives, recently he took part in GLEN - a program focused on racism, power relations and global inequalities. During this time he spent over 3 months in Uganda working as a film teacher in YAMU and Somero - local NGO’s placed in Kampala. His activism is based on anti-capitalism beliefs. If he could choose his mentor probably Noam Chomsky would be his pick. Now he is trying to find a place where he could use his movie skills working for a social change. In spare time Maciej enjoys paragliding and whitewater kayaking.

KRZYSZTOF SKWARA
Jagiellonian University | Cracow, Poland

Born and raised in Cracow, Krzysztof is graduate of Interdisciplinary Studies in Religion and Culture and is majoring in Oriental Philology - Iran and Middle East at Jagiellonian University. He holds a position of Vice President of the Regional Representation of the Polish Forum of Young Diplomats in Cracow. During his major studies he travelled all over Iran in searching of post-revolutionary Persian identities. His theses are focused on Iran, as flagship example of modern revolution that led to initiate a religious regime. He is also interested in the process of a country modernization and the pitfall of populism which can lead to establishing a theocratic dictatorship instead. Krzysztof is passionate about the LGBT emancipation movement and wish that sexuality education was common matter among Poles.

MARIE NELE WOLFRAM
TU Dresden | Berlin, Germany

Marie Nele Wolfram is a trainer for social activism, political participation, personal development and project management. In 2014, she was elected as member of the city council of her hometown Plauen, located in Eastern Germany, where she has been active in work against rightwing extremism for many years. In 2017, she started the political campaign Informationen für Deutschland, using posters and social media to challenge anti-democratic assumptions and stereotypes before the national election. Nele studied International Relations in Dresden, where she founded a social charity network. As a project coordinator and co-founder of Impulse Boost Camp, she yearly creates a space for young social change makers from all over the world to share experiences and learn together on how to make political activism fun. Nele has lived in the USA, Paris, Burundi and Tunis before she moved to Berlin where she recently worked for the German Federal Foreign Office.

MAGDALENA FUCHS
Jagiellonian University | Cracow, Poland

Originally from Katowice, Poland, Magdalena Fuchs proudly calls herself Silesian. She is studying law at Jagiellonian University in Kraków and has spent a semester abroad at Lyon Catholic University in France. She has been engaged in voluntary work for migrants and the homeless. Currently she is focused on volunteering at the Jewish Community Center in Kraków, where she is actively taking part in rebuilding Jewish life and fighting against antisemitism and stereotypes about Jews in her surroundings. In her free time, she enjoys travelling, especially hitchhiking and learning foreign languages. She speaks English and French fluently and is learning Portuguese. She plans to earn a Master’s degree in European Law with a focus on migration issues.
Winston Churchill once said that attitude is a little thing that makes a big difference. Having witnessed systemic changes in Poland, Monika became fascinated by politics and studied international relations with a focus on German studies and European integration. As her interests were broad, she graduated with two master’s diplomas from the Warsaw University and Warsaw School of Economics/Sciences Politiques Paris. Later on, Monika took part in international exchange programs, first at Free University Berlin and then at Humboldt University Berlin, combined with working at one of the parliamentarian offices in the German Bundestag. Subsequently she wanted to find ways of putting the gained knowledge into practice, she started working at a think-tank – the Center for International Relations, and after that she worked at the International Organization for Migration, where she was a project coordinator and a researcher on migration policy issues. Since 2005, Monika was involved in developing Humanity in Action Fellowship in Poland and subsequently established Humanity in Action Poland. Since then, she has been responsible for leading its educational programs and serves as its President and Director. Over the years, while leading Humanity in Action Poland, she developed a special interest in the field of linking history and human rights education, and thanks to practice and dialogue with other experts from Poland and Europe, she built substantial expertise in designing teaching methods and practical curricula. In her very limited spare time, she enjoys reading, diving and snowboarding. Monika is a passionate dancer.

Magdalena likes creating something out of nothing. She is a co-founder and member of the Management Board of the Association of Disabled Women, ONE.pl, the first organization in Poland to deal with the issue of double discrimination grounds of gender and disability. She is also a co-creator of the first edition of the Ashoka Foundation Academy of Innovators for the Public in Nepal. She lived and worked in Asia, USA and Europe. Interdisciplinary and intercultural activities are her passion, especially when they offer an opportunity to combine activism, art and science. Hence her involvement in Humanity in Action. Since 2006, when she cocreated this organization in Poland with Monika, she has served as a member of the Management Board and Communications and PR Director. She initiates and contributes to educational and activist projects as part of the foundation. A supporter of the work of activists as part of Humanity in Action, she has many years of experience as a trainer and tutor both in Poland and abroad. She is an author of various publications on human rights and a certified trainer of Polish Humanitarian Action, a graduate of the Ashoka Foundation Academy of Innovators for the Public and an activist involved with the Helsinki Foundation for Human Rights. Magdalena is also a dual PhD candidate at the Lancaster University in the UK and at the Graduate School for Social Research, the Polish Academy of Sciences. She is a recipient of scholarships from: Yale University, the Kościuszko Foundation, the Ministry of Science and Higher Education, the University of Warsaw, the American Embassy in Poland and the Ashoka Foundation. She is a winner of the Servas International prize for young activists. Magdalena is also an avid skier, juggler, and photographer who loves the wilderness.
ALEKSANDRA “OLA” HOLYŃSKA
Program Coordinator

Aleksandra Holyńska is a social justice activist, a feminist and a social entrepreneur based in Warsaw. She is a trainer with ten years of experience working with nonformal education methods with children, youth and adults. She is a member of MamyGlos Foundation, which empowers teenage girls in Poland to stand up for their rights and against sexism. She is the coordinator of the Human Library events that challenge stereotypes and prejudices through dialogue. She is passionate about Children’s rights and the body positivity movement. Ola is a graduate in Adults Education and Social Marketing.

JOANNA PASYMOWSKA
Projects Coordinator, Administrative Coordinator

Joanna graduated from the Faculty of Psychology at the SWPS University in Warsaw, in the field of the psychology of intercultural relations, specializing in acculturation and training of cultural competences. She is currently studying humanitarian action at the University of Warsaw. She has been involved in third sector activities for a long time. Over the years, Joanna has cooperated with non-governmental organizations to implement social and educational projects, support excluded peoples and those at risk of marginalization. She has implemented many projects, particularly those related to social integration and entrepreneurship, financed both publicly and privately.

Joanna deals with comprehensive financial settlements of grants and the complex coordination of activities carried out from the moment of signing the co-financing contract to the final statement and evaluation. She is experienced in strategic planning and development issues. Over the last few years, Joanna has also gained valuable practical knowledge in financial management of organizations, working not only on project budgets, but also on general organization budgets and focusing on maintaining financial liquidity.
HANNA PIEŃCZYKOWSKA
Project Coordinator

Born and raised in a small town in the East of Poland, Hanna graduated from language studies at the University of Warsaw and the energy market studies at the Warsaw School of Economics. She has worked for several Polish and German NGOs, mostly in the field of European and civic education, as well as interned at the Anne Frank Zentrum and the German Parliament. Alumna of the FutureLab Europe and the Academy of Social Democracy. Her biggest dream is to make the European Union more supportive towards citizens, regardless their background, economic status and the political standing of their country. A proud Humanity in Action Senior Fellow from Warsaw, 2015. She started @JaPolskaRotationCuration, a rotation curation fanpage about Poland.

SYLVIA VARGAS
Project Coordinator

Sylvia (Warsaw 2014) is an intersectional feminist coding for a better world. A double graduate in Linguistics and Cultural Studies from Poznan University, she is currently a Flatiron School student developing tech solutions to challenge social injustice. Three years ago, as her Action Project, Sylvia co-founded MamyGlos, a nationwide foundation empowering teenage girls in Poland to stand up against sexism, delivering workshops to 10,000+ teens and free psychological counseling to over 300. Sylvia was a Program Coordinator in the 2017 Warsaw Fellowship, in the 2018 Detroit Fellowship, and co-created HIA Poland’s social entrepreneurship school. She is a Global Laureate Fellow (2017), DO School alumna (2017) and Ashoka’s Changemaker (2016). In her free time, Sylvia co-authors interactive books for teenagers on racism, menstruation, sexism and ableism. She lives in New York and is happily married to another Senior Fellow.
FELLOWS’ DELIVERABLES

The aim of the Fellows’ Activity is to provide the fellows with the opportunity to enhance a wide array of skills, necessary to effectively respond to discrimination and hate speech both off- and on-line. The fellows will develop and implement/test answers or innovative strategies to human rights challenges provided by a local NGOs mostly run by HIA Senior Fellows. Each group, comprised of 3 fellows, will be offered the opportunity to work on social change by counteracting hate speech, xenophobia and discrimination or contribute to the development of the given NGO while working on the specific real-life case studies based on real-life needs. You will develop the concept of your actions during the design thinking training together with your mentors. There will be a choice of one out of 4 paths:

1. EDU.LAB:

You will develop together with your mentors an EDU.CHALLENGE - a concept of actions referring to real situations which human rights activists face in Poland, for instance: how to design (both visually and content-wise) a music festival booth which will convince teenagers to react to hate speech? Or, how to convince youngsters to refrain from hate speech while playing computer games? How to promote among them active attitudes meaning reacting to hate speech? You could develop workshop scenarios, scenarios of conversations, educational tools for various age groups (such as coloring books, contests, quizzes etc.), worksheets or pages for books on given topics.

2. TECH.LAB:

You will develop together with your mentors a TECH.CHALLENGE concerning employing technological tools for counteracting hate speech. Since Internet-based technologies enable to reach more people at shorter time, you will develop ideas how to engage people into these interactions. Your assignments could vary from: developing scripts for Facebook chat-bot conversations, which would engage youngsters into exchanges, to designing or coding a simple online app, which would engage the visitor in a game. You can also develop some other ideas 😊

3. PRODUCT.LAB:

You will develop together with your mentors a PRODUCT.CHALLENGE, which means, in practical terms, that you will develop social products, social campaigns or social services which address an important social problem and that could be sold. This will be done in the spirit of social entrepreneurship (thus, the profits will be reinvested for the same social cause). These products or services will be developed either in cooperation with existing organizations or could help to set up a new organization, in either case making their work sustainable and independent from public funding.

4. AND... A WILDCARD CATEGORY:

You will develop together with your mentors a type of CHALLENGE which goes beyond the above-mentioned categories. However, one aspect is similar with them: the goal of the actions is to contribute to social change by convincing your target group to react to hate speech.

Fellows’ Assignments & Expectations. HIA Poland expects each group to deliver the following:

1. A CONCEPT OF AN ANSWER TO A CHALLENGE,

Followed by testing the ideas and implementation. All fellows will work in international teams of three. HIA Poland will be responsible for creating the teams, though the fellows will have a chance to share their thematic preferences. In order to help fellows design effective concepts, HIA Poland will provide you with trainings/feedback and other resources to support you in your endeavor. At the later stage working groups will also receive specific requirements defining the success of their challenge task depending on their nature. For example we will ask you to get a Facebook post reach/viewsings at certain level (in case you decide to go for a social campaign as an answer to your challenge) or to draft and test a minimum number of exercise scenarios (in case of educational workshops) etc.

2. A PRESENTATION OF RESULTS,

Aptly summarizing and synthesizing what you experienced, learned and achieved in an engaging and attractive form. As tradition has it, the presentations will take place during a final celebration, for which we will guests, friends and speakers. Let’s celebrate the results of your hard work! We highly recommend... a format similar to Pecha Kucha. Each group will have ca. 3-5 minutes of time, during which all group members should have the chance to present. We recommend to work on presentations and rehearse on July 2. The celebration will take place on July 2. The final presentation files (in PDF, Power Points, video or other Windows system-compatible file formats) should be delivered by 10 AM on July 2. More details will be shared later.

3. A REPORT

summarizing the process of developing and implementing an answer to a challenges and its major parts (graphic and films). Firstly, the report should briefly present a particular problem (characteristics of hate speech and discrimination towards a chosen group) and discuss the existing solutions. Secondly, present your work in an attractive way as well as explain your key ideas. Try to present some other organizations/solutions that inspired your thinking. If possible, include some innovative strategies of counteracting hate speech in various countries and settings together with own thoughts and comments on what kind of reactions they could evoke. Thirdly, share your experiences of the implementation phase. Which of your assumptions turned out to be right? What were the reactions to your social media content? What feedback did you get from the training team? Did you modify your work? If yes, how? Fourthly, what were the lessons learned and what kind of advice could you give your peers engaged in work on social change? As a result, such a report should give the readers some insight into what innovations your group has developed and what were the key turning points in this week-long process of testing various ideas. Last but not least, present how your ideas could be transformed into sustainable long-term activities, and how other people could join in or assume responsibility to develop the initiatives further.

As for the form of this report, it could consist of not only a text, but also include visuals (e.g. pictures of the group work or visual content ). As far as the text is concerned, it doesn’t have to be very long but definitely, should not be shorter than 3 pages (single spacing, WORD format) and should be delivered in three installments:

- theoretical framework by June 23;
- major ideas for action idea(s), impact indicators and implementation plan by June 26;
- final remarks - what proved successful and what could be improved by 10 AM on July 2.

All installments should be merged into one coherent report by that deadline. You will be given a common template for the layout and formatting of your report.

Please make sure you do not forget about an interesting/catchy title, pictures, visuals, footnotes and bibliography. After the program HIA Poland staff will give you feedback on the first drafts of those texts and all the authors will be asked to modify their pieces accordingly. Only then the texts will be considered final/public versions. By ‘public’ we mean that they will be published in an activist toolkit - so please, try to make it useful for the generations of fellows to come - own your failures, celebrate your successes, mention what did work and what could work better.

4. A BLOG POST

covering the process of developing your solution to the existing challenges, accompanied with 3-5 photos (as separately attached files) and delivered by 10 AM on July 2. The aim of the entry is to present the group work from personal/activist perspective. In specific terms, the entry should consist of your personal impressions/ reflections upon your experiences, interesting quotes of persons you have encountered and own observations regarding the whole project. What were the challenges you met? How did you manage to overcome the difficulties? How did you come up with the major idea? The text should not be longer than 1 page in WORD format single spacing. A complete blog entry consists of:

- a catchy title,
- an appealing lead,
- interesting content,
- an attention-grabbing ending,
- last but not least, attractive photos and visuals.

We strongly advise you to take a look on our previous blogs to gain an idea how it could be done. Yet, we hope for fresh ideas as well.

PROJECT EXPENSES

In order to support you in your quest, we will give each group the budget of up to 150 PLN. It is your decision how you prefer to use it (e.g. necessary props, Facebook ads). However, we advise to SHARE your plan with HIA staff before making any spending simply because your spending is connected to our financial reporting and must be aligned with our financial reporting constraints. Remember: you must document your spending with invoices issued in line with the guidelines to be given by HIA staff. Without documentation (invoices), no reimbursement will be possible.
YOUR ENGAGEMENT

All HIA programs are built upon on an active involvement of fellows so that the fellowship experience can be even more enriching. Every fellow is expected to lead a Fellows’ Discussion and/or write a blog post. A sign-up list for these assignments will be handed to you separately.

FELLOWS’ DISCUSSIONS

Almost each day of the input phase, usually between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m., there will be time for the Fellows’ Discussion. It is a moment for fellows to discuss important issues of the given day and/or to continue the discussions started during previous sessions. Fellows’ Discussions are facilitated by fellows (one or two). The role of the Fellows’ Discussion facilitators is to prepare and plan the format of the discussion and to lead the meeting. One day before the discussion, the facilitator or facilitators need to consult their ideas with the HIA staff. This will give you an opportunity to receive feedback on the planned discussion format and subsequently, to improve the details.

BLOG POSTS / VLOGS

We aim to make the blog an open venue for your opinions and sharing your experience gained during the program. Your role is to share the insights and different perspectives (of speakers, other fellows, and yours) on issues raised during the given period of the program.

Remember that your audience is not only the HIA network, but also the general public. We highly advise you to follow the “so what?” rule, which says that a good journalist should always make sure that the article brings an added value to the readers. In this context, Barbara Frum, a Canadian journalist, once said ‘tell me something new about something I care about’.

The text should consist of interesting quotes, observations and raised questions. It should not be longer than 1 page in WORD format single spacing (500-800 words). A complete blog post consists of:

Tips for the facilitators of the Fellows’ Discussions:
1. Prepare yourself well for the Fellows’ Discussion. It is very important to have a specific plan and prepared intros/guidelines for the fellows. Therefore, prepare a concise and clear intro to inform other fellows how the meeting will look like.
2. Prepare the specific subject of the meeting and specific questions to begin the discussion and to move it on if suddenly it stops.
3. Include different methods/forms of activities such as: work in small groups, debates (for example Oxford-style debate, yes/no debate), brainstorming, discussion on the forum (with flipchart), role play, mind map, visualization (poster, comics, collage, photos), drama, film, simulation games. Try to combine a few different forms during a Fellows’ Discussion.
4. Consider a few possible scenarios of the meeting as the discussion can go into different directions.
5. Remember that fellows are likely to be a bit weary after the whole day of sessions. This is why you are encouraged to include some entertainment at the beginning of the session such as energizers or some physical activity. Include it in your agenda.
6. Take care of the atmosphere of the meeting. Let everyone feel safe, included and active.
7. Before you ask HIA staff for feedback, please prepare the written agenda of the meeting according to these guidelines:
   - What is the purpose of the meeting?
   - What kind of methods would you like to use?
   - What results would you like to achieve?
"There are a catchy title,
an appealing lead,
an interesting content,
an attention-grabbing ending,
attractive photos,
last but not least, short videos are highly welcome.

We strongly advise you to take a look at our previous blogs to get an idea how it could be done, though, we encourage fresh, new ideas. Each blog post should be accompanied with 3-5 photos (in separately attached image files). The deadline for submitting each entry via email (to any staff member) is 7 a.m. the day following your duty.

POST-FELLOWSHIP REQUIREMENTS

Apart from the obligation to implement your Action Project, HIA expects you to help the organization to evaluate the program by:

- Contributing to the project evaluation (sharing your observations in constructive manner, completing the evaluation survey etc.),
- Writing a letter to HIA Board Chairs in which you give an impression what was your program experience like. In the letter you could praise the positive aspects and give critical insight on what should be changed on the Fellowship and its components. It is crucial for us to receive honest feedback from you in order for HIA to progress. More information will be given during the Fellowship. Deadline for Letters to the HIA Chairs is July 31, 2019.

SENIOR FELLOWS’ NETWORK

All the HIA Senior Fellows are strongly encouraged to stay in touch with any Senior Fellow Network and take action! Please remember that you can cooperate with any of the existing national Senior Networks (for example, if you happen to live in one of these countries for some period of time). As for becoming a member for practical reasons, Poles and Ukrainians are advised to become members of the Polish Senior Network, Germans of the German Senior Network, Greeks of the Greek Senior Network and Americans of the American Senior Network. You become a Senior Fellow after completing your Action Project.

INTERNSHIPS

There is a wide variety of very interesting internships for HIA Senior Fellows, such as: The Pat Cox HIA Fellowship Program in the European Parliament in Brussels, Congressional HIA Fellowship Program and others. Please note, however, that only fellows who have participated successfully in the HIA core program and who met all the requirements are eligible to apply for internships. In order to maintain a high quality of internships, we try to ensure that the best candidates are chosen. Therefore, the recruitment process is highly competitive. HIA national staff is always asked for feedback and recommendations about fellow’s overall performance during the program, the implementation of the Action Project as well as the involvement and the engagement in the HIA network.
ACTION PROJECTS

Action Project is an individual project realized by Fellows within a year after the HIA Fellowship. That’s right, you have as many as 12 months (or, think in days: 365!) to research the problem, design the solution, implement the action and share your story with the world and with us!

Action Projects serve three goals:
On the individual level, it’s really all about gaining know-how and skills in a field of your liking. You can decide to check yourself in a variety of roles such as: a project manager, researcher, innovator, community organizer and many other, whichever fits you best. We’ve observed many Action Projects becoming a start of a future professional career or ‘just’ long-term passion. However, it can also be just a one-off event or initiative, it’s really up to you! We simply hope that the Action Project will help move your HIA experience from one of educational inquiry to action. And, in the end, its completion will open door to many opportunities within HIA and beyond!

It is our mission to prepare young leaders like yourself to make a public impact in the field of human and minority rights. The Action Project is supposed to be a meaningful demonstration of our Fellows’ capacity to engage in this work. Thus, Action Projects should be designed to make some impact on public debate in your (local) community or/as well as to address specific barriers such as social, civic, cultural or political that you choose to focus on through your initiative.

Last but not least, we are hoping that in your endeavor, you will reach out to our Board Members, Senior Fellows, experts! Why not take your Action Project further and try to make a change on the institutional level? We are here for you! It is our goal to be supportive of your personal and professional goals - reach out to us, and let us help you make your project more worthwhile.

Remember: everyone at HIA is rooting for you and your Action Project. There’s a lot of skills, know-how, experiences and insights in our Network - reach out, whenever you want!

Fellows: Yes, we love making an impact together so why not to use the potential of collaboration with some fellows from your fellowship or Senior Fellows? Action Project teams are welcome! Otherwise, pick their brains or simply ask for feedback and a helping hand. We are here for you!

Senior Fellows: There is a broad range of professional and academic expertise within the community of Senior Fellows. We encourage you to network with Senior Fellows who have designed successful Action Projects in prior years, as well as with those Senior Fellows who have professional experience that will enhance your project. Come for the events, meet Senior Fellows, exchange insights - or use HIA Connect & Senior Fellows’ Facebook Groups to reach out to specific Community Members.

National Directors: The Directors of your home country are a great resource for learning about past successful Action Projects, as well as national resources (experienced Senior Fellows, experts, partner organizations) and external funding sources that might be available for your initiative. Come, have a tea and let’s chat about your ideas!

TO MAKE THE WHOLE PROCESS EASIER FOR YOU WE RECOMMEND THESE STEPS:

1. NAME IT!
Try to locate a problem in the field of human and minority rights that is particularly important for your local community (such as: university, neighborhood, student association, social media community, or your group of peers). Now, ask yourself three questions: Why do you consider the problem to be important and timely? Do you see yourself speaking up about this issue in public? Do you have any experience relating to this issue or if not, can you gain some insights? Ask three community members for their opinion on your project. If the answers satisfy you, proceed to...

2. STRATEGIZE IT!

Think of possible solutions to the problem, and select only the ones which are possible to apply from where you are (professionally, mentally, emotionally, socially, financially, etc.). Note that it does not have to be anything big - we don’t want you to feel overwhelmed or to exhaust your resources. For instance, you can address lack of information on a specific topic through a small information campaign, a panel discussion, an article, or a local meeting of people who usually do not talk to each other. No one here judges the scale of your Action because every action is extremely important. That being said, remember about the impact you are directly making and SOCIAL CHANGE you are contributing to. Is there anything else you could do to increase the impact of your Action Project?

3. CONSULT IT!

If you want and if you can, consult your idea: with us and with Senior Fellows. Maybe it is possible to enhance your project with minimum effort or maybe we can connect you with someone who would do that with you! Also, if you are Polish or Ukrainian Fellow, you can always contact HIA Poland President and Director: Monika Mazur-Rafal: m.rafal@humanityinaction.org.

4. DO IT!

Just like Shia LaBeouf screams in the youtube viral video - Just Do It! And while doing it, enjoy the process!

5. ARCHIVE IT!

Take pictures, videos, and if you feel particularly out there, invite media! Allow yourself for a little moment of glory! Don’t forget to mention that HIA Fellowship was an inspiration for this action:) Use the following phrase “This project is inspired by Humanity in Action Fellowship Program in Poland” and use the following logo:

6. REPORT ON IT!

Fill out a ten-minute form and submit pictures (“pics or didn’t happen!”) to let the Network know what’s cooking in your community. If you have the energy, be as specific as you can and as inspiring as possible. People actually read them! Due to internal division of tasks between the HIA offices there is a principle that Polish and Ukrainian Fellows report to HIA Poland, American Fellows report to the HIA USA, German Fellows and Greek Fellows report to the HIA Germany, so please keep in mind that the requirements below concern Polish and Ukrainian Fellows.

7. CHERISH IT!

Be proud, you (and your team) deserve it!

KEY DATES

- The Fellowship: two Fellowship sessions which will focus on explaining the HIA expectations, exchanging of your initial ideas and developing them. Be prepared to give short presentations on what you are planning to do.
- August: provide a 100-word summary of your Action Project by filling out an online form.
- Fall: provide a completed final Action Project Plan by filling out an online form.
- Fall-winter: consultations with respective HIA offices, Senior Fellows & friends.
- Winter-Spring: time to implement your Action Project. Remember to collect pictures, interviews, publicity.
- July, a year from your Fellowship: deadline for submitting your final report on your Action Project.

CONGRATULATIONS!

- You become a Humanity in Action Senior Fellow!
- Possibility to participate in many opportunities Humanity in Action offers Senior Fellows.

We know: things happen and life gets in the way. In case you need more time to implement your Action Project, contact the Program Director for the approval before the deadline, preferably around February/March of the year following the Fellowship.

Most cabs have about a 6-8 PLN initial charge. The average rate in Warsaw at the moment is circa 2,5 PLN/km; however several companies offer cheaper rates. Check the price sticker on the window, and be cautious about cabs without any identification. Rates go up by half after 10:00 pm and on weekends and during official holidays. Your best bet is to call for a cab to pick you up. Operators rarely speak English, so learn how to say your address and phone number in Polish. You can use Uber as well. Here are some generally reliable and yet cheapest companies:

EKO Taxi, phone: +48 22 644 22 22
(8 PLN + 1,40 PLN/km, the cheapest one)
Grosik Taxi, phone: +48 22 646 46 46

MONEY & BILLS

Make sure you will be reimbursed before spending money (or otherwise, you will have to bear the cost yourself). If anything is unclear please always consult the HIA Poland Director. Costs can only be reimbursed by HIA, if:

- they were consulted with the HIA Poland Director beforehand and it is clear that these costs were unavoidable, related to the program, and were the most cost-effective options where used,
- the original receipts (bills), tickets or boarding passes (in cases of flight tickets) are handed in to HIA Poland (copies are not acceptable). They cannot be crumpled or dirty,
- they were connected with the program, for example travel costs,
- they were connected with your research period, e.g. transportation costs, computer time at internet cafes, fees or temporary membership of libraries, etc.,
- the items/services listed on receipts (bills) were only those related to HIA reimbursement. Please do not make any notes on the receipts (bills)/tickets because those will not be accepted by us. You can write an explanatory note which expense was for what but on a separate sheet of paper (name, date, amount, reason for payment),
- all the invoices/tickets/bills/boarding passes are handed in or sent via mail to HIA Poland within about a month after each component of the program is over.

CASH OUT

The fellowship is partially financed out of public grants, which is why in terms of ‘per diems’, HIA Poland is particularly obliged to obey the existing Polish regulations. According to the relevant Ordinance of Minister of Labor and Social Policy, a ‘per diem’ in the Polish case is maximum 30 PLN, out of which 7.5 PLN should cover the cost of breakfast and 7.5 PLN of dinner and 15 PLN cost of lunch. In line with this law, HIA Poland will organize and cover the cost of lunches on program days when the group spends the whole day together. Moreover, each participant will receive a food stipend, which is meant as a financial support to cover other meals during the whole duration of the program. The per diem (after deducting the cost of meals provided by HIA Poland) will be given to all participants in cash in 2 installments. In case of questions and feedback please turn to Joanna.

PROJECTS
CHOOSING YOUR PROJECT

If you are struggling with choosing your Action Project, know that you are not the first or the only one to experience this. We all want to commit our time and energy to the projects that make a difference and that are exciting. We have prepared a couple of questions that may shed some light on which of your ideas could be most beneficial. If you don’t know at all what you would like to do, these questions will serve as a meditation on yourself and your community. If you still feel stuck, contact your local Humanity in Action office for advise - we are here for you!

What are you doing when you are most engaged, enthusiastic and happy?

What are people doing that you envy for their jobs?

Are you more the person who advocates on behalf of others, someone who raises important issues at a large scale, or develops new systems that influence many people or someone who prefers to work directly with smaller groups of people?

What activity makes your time fly?

What kind of success would make you most proud?

Think about yourself right now. Where in life are you now? How are you feeling - safe, lost, courageous, anxious, curious, scared, bored, overwhelmed, etc.?

Do you want to influence organizations, systems, groups of people or individuals with your work? What are you most comfortable with?

What is the one thing you’d like to achieve in the next year? It can be whatever - choosing a school is equally as good as learning a language.
FINDING YOUR SWEET SPOT

Choosing a right Action Project is often a difficult task. In a perfect world, everyone would work on projects that are close to their hearts. One way of identifying the project is to find our “sweet spot”, which is an area that connects our talents, interests, skills and the needs of the communities around us. Are there any activities that combine the three in your case?
HOW MIGHT WE...
What does this person SAY out loud in an interview or some other usability study?

What does this person FEEL? what worries them? What do they get excited about? How do they feel about the project or the problem?

What does this person THINK? What occupies their thoughts? What are their values? What matters to them? What do they think, but may not be willing to vocalize. Are they unsure, self-conscious, polite, or afraid to tell others something?

What does this person DO? How do they go about doing it? How/where/with whom do they spend time? What are their pains and possible gains? What do they do online?
CONTEXT!

In order to better understand whether what you are planning to do is the most efficient or otherwise the best thing you can do, it is good to map your project. This will also help you to later explain the urgency for your project when dealing with different stakeholders or writing a grant application.

Problem: what is it that you are trying to change? Try to write it down in a form of a question starting with “How might we…”.

Root causes: why does this problem exist? What are the social, economical, cultural, religious, legal (etc.) reasons for it? Try to include both detailed and general causes.

Symptoms: how does this problem manifest itself in the society? How do you know there is a problem? Try to resort not only to your own experience and knowledge but also refer to reports and research. Knowing numbers and statistics will really help you in the other stages of the project.

Outcomes: what are the outcomes (for an individual, a community or society) of the existing situation? Try to resort not only to your own experience and knowledge but also refer to reports and research. Knowing numbers and statistics will really help you in the other stages of the project.

Attention: there is no right or wrong way of filling out the context map - ultimately, it is a tool to help you better strategize your actions. Sometimes, a root cause may also be viewed as an outcome at the same time. However, if you need an inspiration, look at a very minimal context map of a project dealing with empowering teenage girls in Poland.

KNOW WHAT YOU DON'T KNOW

In running a successful project, it is important to be aware of the knowledge and skills you may not yet have. This tool also allows you to map the blank spots of your understanding of the project. Perhaps you have never checked the legal framework of a certain issue or never looked into how some system work. This knowledge is relevant when planning a project.
How might we help teenage girls in Poland lead self-guided life?

Symptoms
- 85% teenage girls experienced sexual harassment
- 35% of teenage girls suffer from eating disorder
- 90% teenage girls dislike their body
- It is difficult to make your own choices as a teenage girl
- Only one Youth City Council is led by a girl
- Only 2-20% students in STEM in Poland are women

Root Causes
- Female role models are unknown
- Male-centred textbooks
- No Sex Ed in PL
- Almost no psychological counselling available to teenagers

Education

Society
- Gender Roles
- Violence is a taboo

Legal
- Religion’s Influence
- Legally, teenagers have no agency over their health

Things to Check
- How (legally) can teenagers access mental health counseling?
- What books on female role models are available in bookstores in Poland?
- What programs are available for teenage girls who experience violence?
- What are the procedures for a teenager to report sexual harassment?
- ...
STAKEHOLDERS

Your project depends and affects many people. It is not only you, your team, project's beneficiaries and Humanity in Action but there are also other groups that are crucial for the project success. Especially in the planning phase of the project, it is good to give yourself a gift of mapping your network and your stakeholders to be aware at all times who and with who you are conducting the project in order to keep people interested in supporting your cause. Regular mapping assures that you don't forget to stay in touch with relevant stakeholders and as a result, advance your project.

I. Who do you want to influence?
   A. What are their characteristics, wishes, values, ...?
   B. What is your relationship to them?
   C. Are you legitimate in their eyes?
   D. How do you ensure them that you are doing the right thing?

II. Who do you need to run your project?
   A. Who needs to at least accept your work?
   B. Who do you need to be actively involved/supportive?
   C. Who do you get resources from and need to be accountable to?

III. Who is (even involuntarily) affected by you?
   A. What could be negative impacts of your project and for whom?
   B. Who is likely to resist your activities?
   C. How can you communicate your project so that this doesn’t happen?
POWER-INTEREST MATRIX

Now, map your project’s stakeholders on this diagram:

Or, how interested are these stakeholders in your project?

Or, how much influence do these stakeholders have over your project?
See how to maintain the relationship with the stakeholders you indicated on the previous page.

Potential Supporter
- e.g. your friends, online supporters, local community, your mentors, experts from another country, other Fellows, Senior Fellows

How to maintain relationship with them?
- Show consideration for them and their insights
- Inform them about your actions & consult regularly, if possible

Key Stakeholders
- e.g. your project beneficiaries, your volunteers, facilitators with whom you're working, venues, donors, HIA National Directors, but also hostile politicians or organizations

How to maintain relationship with them?
- Make sure they know they are important to you
- Treat their insights very seriously
- Make communication with them a priority
- Engage in your actions and inform them about the progress often

Lower Attention Priority
- anyone who's rather indifferent to your project but somehow exists in your project's world, e.g. activists from another city, small local media outlet, etc.

How to maintain relationship with them?
- Don't spend too much time on communication with them (but be respectful)
- Target with general communication

Influencers
- e.g. media, vloggers, bloggers, local government, scholars, potential donors, community leaders, "popular kids", etc.

How to maintain relationship with them?
- Meet their needs and try to fulfill their wishes
- Try to raise their interest
COMMUNICATION WITH YOUR STAKEHOLDERS

Create strategy for dealing with your stakeholders.
1. What can you expect from them? Why are they in the picture? What can you get out of this relation?
2. Write down specific actions you need to take to ensure good relations with them, for instance, think about how often, on which channels and with what language you’d like to communicate with them? How can you engage with them in a way that’s not draining for you?
3. Write down examples of one-sentence communicates you could say to them to get them onboard for this project. Why may they wanna join? Is your project connected to some of their main values or causes they believe in? Does it solve a problem that’s bothering them or provides an opportunity for them?
The Theory of Change is a visual representation or map that shows how the components of a complex social project come together to achieve desired outcomes. It is a widely recognized tool for checking whether the assumptions you have about your projects are correct. Start with identifying the ultimate goal of your project. Then list all the activities you can/need to implement to achieve the goal. Then, name all the assumptions underlying your choices. For best effects, after you’ve filled the model out, talk to someone who easily shares criticism and ask them to find logical gaps or weak points of your planned action.

DO

- Strategies
  - What activities will produce your intended social impact?

GET

- Results
  - What is the outcome you want to see expressed in 12 words or less?

Assumptions

- Research, Theory, Practice, Intuition
  - What are the assumptions underlying the success of your project? Or: what has to be true for your project to be successful?
EXAMPLE: HIA CITY GAMES

In 2015, as a part of a bigger project, HIA Poland created a series of city games to raise awareness of the Jewish heritage in different towns and cities in Poland. The project was very ambitious and although successful, it could have been better had we been more aware of our assumptions. This could be our Theory of Change, had we known this tool back then:

- Senior Fellows will be interested in creating city games in their cities.
- Senior Fellows will have access to data on the Jewish heritage in their cities.
- Two months will be enough to:
  - create,
  - test,
  - promote the games.
- Teachers will be interested in incorporating the games in their lessons.
- Students will enjoy the games.

DO

- Write a CFA for Senior Fellows and recruit them;
- One-on-one check-ins with Senior Fellows to discuss expectations and deliverables;
- Support SF in outreach and media;
- Work with graphic designer to design the games;
- Check games for accuracy;
- Promote the games;
- Distribute them to schools;
- Check-in at the end to sum up with SFs;

GET

- Six tested city games;
- Media coverage in each city and nationwide;
- A network of interested teachers;
- 2,000+ students-participants in games;

Unfortunately, due to the grant constraints, we had only two months to do all of this - and this was the assumption we did not question enough. The project was very successful and we received amazing feedback. However, could it have been more? Is there anything we could have done to make the work faster, more efficient, or to reach the same (or higher) number of students in the same time?
The best way to avoid disasters is to plan for them. Rarely things go as planned and that is why it is good to be prepared for the worst-case scenarios. Follow this simple exercise to help your future self. Draw a timeline for your project, including all the activities you are planning to carry out.

Below you see a timeline of an action project, free coding course for NEETs (i.e. youth that is Not in Education, Employment or Training). The red crosses indicate all the instances that things did not go as planned: the group did not get the first grant because they had not commit enough time into writing the application; the Social Media campaign did not start because the group did not have time to devote to this task; their initial idea for a curriculum turned out to be overambitious, and so on. It would have been helpful for the group to critically look at their timeline and think about possible obstacles.
BIZARRO WORLD

One method of foolproofing the project is called ‘bizarro world’. In the Superman series, Bizarro World was a world in which everything was the opposite of what we know: Superman was not a hero, villains were good, etc. After you’re done drawing a timeline, mark all the points where ANYTHING can go wrong. Then, list all the problems (e.g. “we won’t get a grant”) in a column. Then, look at the problems and write their Bizarro World versions (the opposites). And once you’re done with this column, take a five minute break, come back and think about how to get from the obstacle to the Bizarro World. There might be a few ways! List them all - give yourself a gift of 101 disaster prep. See on the right the example of the coding course.

Anna Zając
Teacher at a Warsaw primary school. In 2006, she defended her master’s thesis with 3 specializations in pedagogy at the Academy of Special Education in Warsaw. These specializations are: therapeutic pedagogy, pre-school education and music teaching along with conducting children’s groups. During her studies she was awarded by the Minister of Education Scholarship for her achievements in science. She participated in many conferences, she was an organizer of scientific conferences, and published scientific publications in the field of Special Pedagogy and Pedeutology - teaching about the teacher. In 2007, she completed post-graduate studies at the University of Warsaw - early English language teaching. In 2013, she completed Revision and Accounting at the University of Warsaw because she was looking for an alternative due to the critical financial situation in education. She started working at school in 2006. All this time she was interested in the fate of teachers and it hurt her how they were treated by successive governments and how much the teacher’s authority in Poland fell. Concerned about this situation in 2014, she joined the Polish Teachers’ Union to be able to participate in the defense of workers’ rights. In 2018, for the first time she expressed her concern publicly - at the time of the manifestation at the Ministry of Education. In January 2019 she brought her payslip to the Center for Dialogue to present the realities of teachers to the minister of education Anna Zalewska. She became the first teacher who dared to show her salary in public and say that the Polish minister of education lies in the media about teachers. She took an active part in preparations for the teachers’ strike and then in the strike itself.

Her passions are beyond teaching - music, singing, playing the violin and piano, bicycle tours with children, walking with her beloved dog and spending time with her own children.
